Christine M Harootunian PhD started Best CBD for Fido in the fall of 2017 when medical cannabis began to make the leap from people to their pets. It became evident that little scientific data existed to support the practice of using cannabis in pets, but owners are often desperate to find relief for their suffering. Christine's education in nutritional biochemistry (PhD Tufts) allows her to work directly with pet owners to identify potential products that may improve their pet's health.
